Dedication

This book has been dedicated to my beautiful Wife Iyobosa Faith Ogunkoya and my Wonderful Mother Yemisi Ogunkoya. You are both the personification of what it is to be a true woman of virtue.

Introduction

I decided to write this book because I want to share with women what true Christian men are really looking for in a potential life partner. I use the term true Christian men because not every guy that goes to church is a true Christian.

Some guys only go to church to hook up with women that they can eventually take advantage of either financially or sexually. Such guys are not really interested in a long term relationship or even a godly relationship for that matter. They are just looking to have a bit of fun. These kind of guys are not true Christian men.

Guys that go to church just to hook up with women are not really looking for a woman of God; they are looking for sensual women, women that appeal to their fleshly desires. Men like this will often only pursue such women that only appeal to their senses and not a truly virtuous woman because their goal is to use and abuse and not to commit.

True Christian men are looking for virtuous women not sensual women. True Christian men want a woman that loves and fears God for real. True Christian men are cautious of women who come across as being too sensual or sexual because they don't want to fall. So they run from such women like Joseph ran from Potiphar's wife.

The problem however is that a lot of women have been wrongly educated in terms of how to appeal to a guy. Women have been taught that they need to be sensual and show their cleavage and wear clothes that accentuate their curves and figure in order to get a guys attention.

The problem with following that particular school of thought is that, coming across as sensual might end up turning off the true Christian guy you want to attract. Because a true Christian guy is looking for virtue in a woman and not just someone that appeals to his senses, he might end up having the wrong perception of you if you only come across as sensual.

In the end, women that go out of their way to appeal to guys by packaging themselves in a sensual and sexual way end up attracting the wrong kind of guys. They end up attracting guys that will only use and abuse them and dump them when they are done having their way with them.

If you as a woman want to attract and get a guy that will value and cherish you, if you want to attract a true Christian man, the kind of man that is looking for a long term relationship and is ready to commit to you and love you the way you deserve to be loved, then you will have to appeal to more than just his senses, you will have to demonstrate that there is more to you than just sex appeal

You will have to show him that you are Virtuous Not Sensuous.

My objective with this book is to offer an alternative view to what the world has to offer in terms of what men are looking for in a woman.

Being a Man, I know how men think when it comes to relationships and commitment. A true man of God doesn't want a woman that "lets it all hang out" because he doesn't want the whole world seeing what is supposed to belong to him only, A true man of God is not prepared to share his woman's body with anybody, because like God he is jealous!

He doesn't want his woman's cleavage and other private parts of her body on public display.

Men rarely respect women that are purely sensual and sexual and will not consider settling down in a long term relationship with such a woman. They may be prepared to "have fun" and fornicate with such women but they will never settle down with a woman that doesn't respect herself enough to keep her private things private.

When it comes to relating with women, men will go to sensual women to satisfy their sexual lusts, but when it comes to settling down, every guy wants a woman of virtue to settle down with.

So you have to decide which one you want to be, the sensual woman that men use to satisfy their sexual lust or the virtuous woman that men want to have a long term relationship and settle down with.

The objective of this book is to show you the difference between a virtuous and a sensuous woman so that you can become that virtuous woman that real men are looking for.

Please understand that I am not saying that you shouldn't make an effort as a woman to look good. I believe in a woman taking care of herself and making sure she looks good and presents herself well, after all a guy still needs to be attracted to you.

There is nothing wrong with wearing nice clothes, putting on makeup, wearing some nice jewelries and accessories, putting on some nice perfume etc

But there is a fine line between looking good and coming across as sensual and sexual and some women often confuse looking sexual with looking good.

When you are looking sensual and sexual, a guy will look at you and the first thing that will probably cross his mind is sex not commitment. When you show yourself to be a virtuous woman a man will do whatever he has to do to make you his wife.

But being a virtuous woman is not only about looks and appearance. It is also about your personality and character. There is no point having the appearance of a virtuous woman if your personality and character doesn't match that appearance.

Some women package themselves well, and present themselves in a decent way but then spoil it all with their personality and character. They are rude and disrespectful, condescending and very brash and these characteristics will equally turn off a true Christian man in the same way coming across as sensual and sexual will.
